Market developments

The mortgages market remains strong on the back of a strong housing market with rising prices. Transaction volumes are supported by investors who are selling investment properties, mainly to first time buyers. The mortgage market continues to be dominated by the 10 years fixed rate period. The porting loan option remains attractive to existing borrowers due to the very low rates in the past.

Retail savings

Volumes remained relatively stable

Observations

- Growth of 2% in H1 2025
- Retail Savings makes up 54% of total funding
- NIBC client satisfaction score 8.1
- More than 90% of all retail savings is DGS protected

Market developments

Despite declining savings rates, the total savings in the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany is still growing. This is partly explained by economic uncertainty. In the Netherlands, we also observe a shift from money held in current accounts to savings accounts. The term deposit market remains stable. Savers continue to search for alternatives to low savings rates. Foreign providers offering higher interest rates remain attractive, even though their rates have also declined.

Commercial Real Estate

Strong track record through selective origination

Portfolios (EUR bn)

Commercial Real Estate per asset type

- Residential
- Industrial
- Office

82% of the portfolio is in the Netherlands, with no exposures in Germany or the US

Average loan to value commercial real estate portfolio at 56%

NPL exposure at 0%

Market developments

Continuing shortage in housing in the Netherlands drives growth and opportunities in financing residential real estate. International opportunities in “Living” are driven by strong fundamentals as urbanization, housing affordability, rental demand and demographic shifts, and provides opportunities going forward. However, competition in this asset class is fierce driving spreads to lower levels in all geographies.

Digital Infrastructure

Enabling European digitisation

Portfolios (EUR bn)

Digital Infrastructure per asset type

Digital Infrastructure per region

- Netherlands
- Germany
- United Kingdom

Market developments

The financing landscape in digital infrastructure markets has become more competitive. However, continuously growing data consumption still provides growth opportunities across the European space in the field of data centers and fiber business-to-business.

Other Income

In EUR millions

- In H1 2025, net interest income (NII) decreased to EUR 161m (H1 2024: EUR 211m) which is mainly driven by the sold activities in 2024 partly offset by increased volume of most of NIBC's core portfolios compared to 2024

- Fee income is mainly generated from the mortgage originate to manage business which remained relatively stable at EUR 19m in H1 2025 (H1 2024: EUR 19m)

Operating Expenses

In EUR millions

- NIBC's cost/income ratio of 50% is above the medium-term objective, with the ambition to achieve a cost/income ratio of 40-45% in the near term through optimisation of the organisation, our processes and cost base, as well as continued growth in our core segments

- Operating expenses decreased to EUR 99m in H1 2025 (H1 2024: 108m) which is mainly driven by the sold activities in 2024. Excluding non-recurring items, operating expenses in H1 2025 are roughly in line with H1 2024

- Personnel expenses increased mainly due to severance payments which is partly offset by lower other operating expenses in H1 2025, both effected by one-offs in H1 2025

Relatively stable asset quality

Credit loss expenses showed an elevated level in H1 2025 mainly driven by stage 2 increases in Fiber subsector

- Relatively stable asset quality in H1, although we do see some deterioration in the fiber to-the-home segment because of cost inflation and lower than expected user adoption
- NIBC continues to apply a management overlay to reflect increased uncertainties and risks not sufficiently covered in its ECL models. The total management overlay amounts to EUR 17m as of 30 June 2025 (2024: EUR 19m)
- Continued reduction in non-core portfolio in line with strategy
